IT MEANS THE TICK'S FINAL ROUT

Only by a campaign that includes every part of the state can Florida be finally and completely rid of that enemy of its development in wealth and importance as a cattle producing state, the Texas fever cattle tick. One of the greatest benefits, therefore, the legislature could have done for Florida at its special session was its action in taking the preliminary steps for such a movement. A committee of three is to study the advisability and feasibility of proposing a bill to the regular session a few months hence to put the state-wide compulsory dipping plan into effect.

This facilitates action upon this important matter, for such a committee appointed during the regular session could not give the matter the attention it will receive at the hands of the three during the intervening months.

The large majorities by which 28 of the 51 counties of Florida have voted for compulsory dipping in their respective counties was sufficient notice to the legislature that a majority of the people of the state desire that the tick shall be eradicated. The action of the special session of the legislature will in itself serve to bring nearer the day when all Florida will show white on the tick eradication maps.

Few, if any, Floridians now doubt that the extermination of the useless and dangerous cattle tick would mean a great acceleration of the movement of purebred cattle into the state; an end of regulations which hamper the shipment of good cattle out of the state; the beginning of the day when Florida will take her place as a great producer of beef and dairy products.

Instead of sending away millions of dollars dience guessed the identity. The judges, Dr. Smith, Mrs. Short and Mrs. E. Vrooman, awarded the prize for the best character costume to Mrs. Dvorak and for the most humorous costume to Ray Carr. Afterward general dancing was enjoyed by all present.

annually for beef and dairy products we shall, by virtue of our incomparable climate and wealth of feeds, produce for the nations as well as for ourselves, and Jacksonville will become one of the busiest of the important distributing points for such food commodities; the foresight of the Armours will be justified.

In place of millions for dairy products sent annually to other states, Florida will produce her own cream, butter and cheese and be in turn an exporter where she has been an importer. Later, breeders will be coming to this state for purebred sires and dams, for conditions in these regions favor growth and stamina and potency.

Then will come the great cattle shows in this state and the bringing away by our breeders of prizes offered in other states for big, fat cattle. Our state fairs of the near future will have big cattle displays to which those interested in the industry will come from far and near to buy and take notes; and their dairy departments will be interesting and appetizing. What Denmark and Holland are, or have been, to the rest of Europe, Florida will be to the United States when the tick incubus has been removed awhile.—Times-Union.

Daytona men voted against municipal suffrage rights for the women of Daytona the other day, the votes standing 153 against and 120 for the measure. Male citizenship rights being a monopoly there is never any chance of women attaining justice until there is a majority of the men voters who believe in a square deal. Numbers of Daytona women taxpayers are denied the right to vote regarding the expenditure of their money by 153 men! It all looks mighty crooked.—Miami Metropolis.

SPECULATORS TRY TO GRAB LIBERTY BONDS AT BARGAIN

People Urged Not to Sell Government Securities at Sacrifice or Exchange Them For Questionable Paper.

Atlanta.—Reports are reaching the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta that many owners of Liberty Bonds are selling them at prices lower than their market value.

Investigations show that shrewd speculators are active in trying to induce people to part with their Government securities. Many of them are offering to take Liberty Bonds in exchange for some other so-called "security" which promises a higher rate of interest than Liberty Bonds. It is pointed out by Treasury officials that Liberty Bonds are worth every dollar paid for them. One evidence of their value is the eagerness of the speculator to get possession of them. He knows what they are worth. Their Liberty Bond owner does not know the value of the "stock" or "bond" he is offered in exchange for his Government security.

Liberty Bonds have back of them the entire resources of the United States which makes them worth their face value. The person who exchanges them for some other kind of paper risks losing the money invested in his bond as well as the interest.

Other people are selling their bonds because they feel that "the war's over" and they are no longer obligated to hold them. Although fighting has ceased, the war will not be over until the peace treaty is signed and our soldiers are home. A Liberty Bond is a certificate of service and the person who sells them at a sacrifice is deserting the cause. He is reflecting on his own judgment and patriotism and surrendering an investment that never will fail to pay returns.

It is recognized that there are times when investors are compelled to seek relief from financial distress. Often their first impulse is to dispose of their Liberty Bonds.

In such cases the bank is the place to go. Banks will lend money on Liberty Bonds. The borrower is helped out of his difficulty and does not lose possession of his Government bond.

Deadly Chemical Bombs.
Hydrocyanic acid, known as prussic acid, is so poisonous that a mere breath of it means instant death. Sulphuric anhydride when brought into contact with the air combines rapidly with moisture absorbed from the air, producing sulphuric acid. Thrown in a bomb with just explosive charge enough to disrupt the bomb and scatter the sulphuric anhydride, the air for a large space about the explosion would be at once converted into a dense fog of sulphuric acid. Liquid ammonia, similarly employed, would instantly so impregnate the atmosphere with ammonia as to strangle all persons in the immediate vicinity. Ammonia is absolutely irrespirable.

Exactly.
Little Mrs. Hunter had heard so many jokes about the brides who couldn't market successfully that she made up her mind that the first request she made of the marketman would show her to be a sophisticated housewife. "Send me, please," she said, "two French chops and 100 green peas."—Exchange.

Kindly words, sympathizing attentions, watchfulness against wounding men's sensitiveness—these cost very little, but they are priceless in their value.

WORKERS BUSY ON PLANS FOR VICTORY LOAN NEXT SPRING

"Let's Finish the Job," Will be Appeal to Subscribers and Volunteers in Last Bond Campaign.

Atlanta.—Forces are being lined up throughout the country to put over America's fifth war loan—the last the public will be called upon to absorb—the early part of April.

The decision of the Treasury Department to designate the new bond issue as the "Victory Liberty Loan," seems to be meeting with general favor. The name carries the thought of the victory of America and her allies on the battlefields of France for the cause of freedom and democracy. The amount of the loan will be determined by the needs of the Treasury Department when the issue is authorized. It is believed, however, it will be about six Billion Dollars—the same as the Fourth Liberty Loan. The interest rate of the securities has not been decided but assurances have been given that it will be attractive from the investor's point of view.

"Let's finish the job" is the appeal made by officials of the War Loan organization to purchasers of bonds of the previous issues and to workers. The county organizations are being reassembled for the last great effort.

In a statement just made public, Governor Joseph A. McCord, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, chairman of the Sixth District War Loan Organization, emphasizes the need of another loan.

"It was not alone the achievement of our soldiers in breaking the Hindenburg line that made Germany beg for an armistice though I would not rob the fighters of any of the glory, he said. It was the gigantic scale of preparation in America, behind the army, our huge production of arms, ammunition and ships; our greater army in training behind the firing line, that convinced Germany it was useless to fight any longer."

"By going into it as we did, a vast sum was spent, but it brought a saving in the lives of thousands of our young men. Critics have charged the Government with "extravagance" in handling war contracts. It was this determination to "win at any cost" that brought the Hun to his knees. It was economy, not only in lives but in money we would have been compelled to spend had the war lasted another year or two years longer."

The obligations now outstanding for this enormous production of material must be met. That is the reason it is necessary to raise more money through bonds even though the armistice has been signed. American soldiers still are in Europe and until they have been brought back and the bills paid, the public's duty to the Government will not be fulfilled—the job will not be finished.

A Costly Waterloo Medal.

Mr. Steward has included in "War Medals and Their History" a special account of the famous Waterloo medal of Pistrucci, which originated from the desire of George IV. in 1819 to commemorate the victory by the issue of a specially fine medal. Flaxman designed it, but Pistrucci, the chief engraver at the royal mint, refused to cut the dies and was himself commissioned to prepare a modeled design, which, being approved, he was instructed to cut the dies for a fee of £3,500. The dies were not finished until 1849, and of the men who were to receive the medal in gold the Duke of Wellington was the only survivor when the first impression was taken.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The executive board held a meeting and appointed Mrs. E. W. Hopkins to serve the unexpired term as vice president.

The entertainment committee, composed of Mesdames Brandt, Jones and Russell, has decided to have each member earn and contribute a dollar, and at a special meeting tell the manner in which it was earned. Each member is requested to get busy and bring in the allotted amount.

The tea Saturday afternoon was well attended and the music furnished by the Misses Connor and Mrs. W. C. Chowning was greatly enjoyed, as well as the readings given by Miss Irene Brown. Coffee and cake were served by Mesdames Chowning, Little, Roberson and Russell, who acted as hostesses. The amount received from the silver offering was $10.14.

Considering the inclement weather there was a good attendance at the regular meeting of the Woman's club Monday afternoon. The subject of the program was "Current Events," in charge of Mrs. H. L. Rood, and the members who attended thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. A piano solo by Miss Shirk was delightfully rendered and was responded to by an encore. Miss Corinne Neal, in her usual pleasing voice, rendered several vocal solos, which were heartily enjoyed. Mrs. Rood's paper on "Current Events" was well written and much enjoyed, dwelling on the necessity of being familiar with reading the papers and keeping in touch with daily happenings of state country and foreign affairs.

THESE LONG EVENINGS

Call forcibly to mind the necessity for good lighting in the home. The most pleasant time of the day for the business man is when he goes home after his day's work to spend the evening with his family, and the pleasantness is enhanced or lessened by the good or poor lighting in the home.

Electricity furnishes the best, most convenient and safest form of lighting. There is no fuss, no worry, no muss. Just turn the switch and you have a flood of light when you want it and where you want it.

If you have any lighting problems we would be glad of an opportunity to talk them over with you.

MY name is May Isabel Carnahan. I am eighteen years old, and I work in a big factory in Michigan. More than four hundred other girls work there too. I don't aim to tell you about our jobs. You can read about our work in the labor department reports. But I do aim to tell you about our Big Sister and of the things she has done for us.

"To begin with, our factory town isn't a town at all. It's a huge barn of buildings stuck down in the country nineteen miles from nowhere. There is a railroad siding, a station the size of a dry goods box, seven farmhouses and one general store and postoffice combined—it's pretty near as big as a hot tamale stand. And that's all. No Main street, no banks nor stores, no ice-cream parlors, not one solitary movie show, in all those nineteen miles. Lonesome? It's the rugged edge of desolation, that's what it is.

"I was one of the first carload of forty girls that was shipped up from Chicago. The factory was swarming with workmen putting in the machinery, and we girls couldn't begin work for a day or so, so we began hunting places to eat and sleep. That was a trifle that the employment folks hadn't thought of. The workmen were sleeping and eating in the cars that had brought them there, backed on the siding. Our only chance for beds and food was with those seven farmhouses, so we marched straight to the farmers' wives and asked for board and room.

Farmers' Wives Hospitable.

"I will say that those women were kind and hospitable. They fixed it up between them to feed us forty girls, and they gave us good food too. But for rooms, that was the question. They could each spare one room. That meant sleep five or six in a room. But right then along came the boss of the factory and told us the machinery was ready and he'd expect us girls to work double shifts, night and day.

"He wanted to make use of every minute, you see. But that gave us our chance as to sleeping. We fixed it up with the farm folks that we'd work double shifts and sleep double shifts too.

"So we planned it. Three girls would use a room from eight at night till six the next morning. Then they'd hustle over to the factory, and the three girls who'd been working all night would take the room and sleep till afternoon. It wasn't any luxurious slumber, believe me. The farm women had so few sheets and pillow cases that most of us went without. And towels were scarce as diamonds on blackberry bushes. As to soap—well, the general store kept yellow bar soap, that kind that is so full of rosin you could use it to calk a ship. But we made out till the next three carloads of girls came rolling in. Then we went 'most distracted. Those poor girls had to sleep in tents and in the cars that the workmen had abandoned by this time, and they were lucky if they got a straw tick and a blanket. By this time it had turned raw cold, and maybe you know what late autumn nights in Michigan feel like. To cap the climax the farm folks cut down on food, and for a week it was potatoes and beans and mighty few beans at that.

Along Came a Miracle.

"But, right when we were about ready to quit our jobs and beat it for home, along came a miracle. Two quiet, businesslike women climbed down from the eastbound train one morning. With them came eight workmen, a carload of scantling and tar paper, another carload of cots and blankets and pillows and sheets and towels—brand new blankets and beds—think of the glory of that!—and bushels of dishes and rolls of oilcloth and enough burlap to carpet the country. You won't believe me when I tell you that in ten days their workmen had a scantling-and-tar-paper shack put up and burlap tacked over the walls, and the Y. W. C. A. secretary and her helper had set up board tables and coffee kettles and were serving us the grandest hot lunches every day. And back behind the burlap screens were set those rows of clean cots, with enough cover to keep you warm the coldest night that ever blew, and a towel apiece for every single girl. Do you wonder that we all felt, as one girl put it, 'I'll wager the Fritz-Carleton has nothing on this!'

"Who were those women? Why, Y. W. C. A. secretaries, of course. I'd think you'd know that without being told. All over the country wherever we girls have pitched in to make aeroplane cloth or overalls or munitions or canned goods you'll find a Y. W. C. A. secretary working harder than anybody else to make the girls comfortable and to keep them happy and well. Sometimes they haven't money enough to get all that we really need. But always they stretch every cent to make it do its level best for us. Do you wonder that we girl workers have learned to call the Y. W. C. A. our Big Sister—the very best Big Sister of all?

IT MEANS THE TICK'S FINAL ROUT

Only by a campaign that includes every part of the state can Florida be finally and completely rid of that enemy of its development in wealth and importance as a cattle producing state, the Texas fever cattle tick. One of the greatest benefits, therefore, the legislature could have done for Florida at its special session was its action in taking the preliminary steps for such a movement. A committee of three is to study the advisability and feasibility of proposing a bill to the regular session a few months hence to put the state-wide compulsory dipping plan into effect.

This facilitates action upon this important matter, for such a committee appointed during the regular session could not give the matter the attention it will receive at the hands of the three during the intervening months.

The large majorities by which 28 of the 51 counties of Florida have voted for compulsory dipping in their respective counties was sufficient notice to the legislature that a majority of the people of the state desire that the tick shall be eradicated. The action of the special session of the legislature will in itself serve to bring nearer the day when all Florida will show white on the tick eradication maps.

Few, if any, Floridians now doubt that the extermination of the useless and dangerous cattle tick would mean a great acceleration of the movement of purebred cattle into the state; an end of regulations which hamper the shipment of good cattle out of the state; the beginning of the day when Florida will take her place as a great producer of beef and dairy products.

annually for beef and dairy products we shall, by virtue of our incomparable climate and wealth of feeds, produce for the nations as well as for ourselves, and Jacksonville will become one of the busiest of the important distributing points for such food commodities; the foresight of the Armours will be justified.

In place of millions for dairy products sent annually to other states, Florida will produce her own cream, butter and cheese and be in turn an exporter where she has been an importer. Later, breeders will be coming to this state for purebred sires and dams, for conditions in these regions favor growth and stamina and potency.

Then will come the great cattle shows in this state and the bringing away by our breeders of prizes offered in other states for big, fat cattle. Our state fairs of the near future will have big cattle displays to which those interested in the industry will come from far and near to buy and take notes; and their dairy departments will be interesting and appetizing. What Denmark and Holland are, or have been, to the rest of Europe, Florida will be to the United States when the tick incubus has been removed awhile.—Times-Union.

Daytona men voted against municipal suffrage rights for the women of Daytona the other day, the votes standing 153 against and 120 for the measure. Male citizenship rights being a monopoly there is never any chance of women attaining justice until there is a majority of the men voters who believe in a square deal. Numbers of Daytona women taxpayers are denied the right to vote regarding the expenditure of their money by 153 men! It all looks mighty crooked.—Miami Metropolis.

SPECULATORS TRY TO GRAB LIBERTY BONDS AT BARGAIN

People Urged Not to Sell Government Securities at Sacrifice or Exchange Them For Questionable Paper.

Atlanta.—Reports are reaching the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta that many owners of Liberty Bonds are selling them at prices lower than their market value.

Investigations show that shrewd speculators are active in trying to induce people to part with their Government securities. Many of them are offering to take Liberty Bonds in exchange for some other so-called "security" which promises a higher rate of interest than Liberty Bonds.

It is pointed out by Treasury officials that Liberty Bonds are worth every dollar paid for them. One evidence of their value is the eagerness of the speculator to get possession of them. He knows what they are worth. Their Liberty Bond owner does not know the value of the "stock" or "bond" he is offered in exchange for his Government security.

Liberty Bonds have back of them the entire resources of the United States which makes them worth their face value. The person who exchanges them for some other kind of paper risks losing the money invested in his bond as well as the interest.

Other people are selling their bonds because they feel that "the war's over" and they are no longer obligated to hold them. Although fighting has ceased, the war will not be over until the peace treaty is signed and our soldiers are home. A Liberty Bond is a certificate of service and the person who sells them at a sacrifice is deserting the cause. He is reflecting on his own judgment and patriotism and surrendering an investment that never will fail to pay returns.

It is recognized that there are times when investors are compelled to seek relief from financial distress. Often their first impulse is to dispose of their Liberty Bonds.

In such cases the bank is the place to go. Banks will lend money on Liberty Bonds. The borrower is helped out of his difficulty and does not lose possession of his Government bond.

Deadly Chemical Bombs.

Hydrocyanic acid, known as prussic acid, is so poisonous that a mere breath of it means instant death. Sulphuric anhydride when brought into contact with the air combines rapidly with moisture absorbed from the air, producing sulphuric acid. Thrown in a bomb with just explosive charge enough to disrupt the bomb and scatter the sulphuric anhydride, the air for a large space about the explosion would be at once converted into a dense fog of sulphuric acid. Liquid ammonia, similarly employed, would instantly so impregnate the atmosphere with ammonia as to strangle all persons in the immediate vicinity. Ammonia is absolutely irrespirable.

Exactly.

Little Mrs. Hunter had heard so many jokes about the brides who couldn't market successfully that she made up her mind that the first request she made of the marketman would show her to be a sophisticated housewife. "Send me, please," she said, "two French chops and 100 green peas."—Exchange.

Kindly words, sympathizing attentions, watchfulness against wounding men's sensitiveness—these cost very little, but they are priceless in their value.

WORKERS BUSY ON PLANS FOR VICTORY LOAN NEXT SPRING

"Let's Finish the Job," Will be Appeal to Subscribers and Volunteers in Last Bond Campaign.

Atlanta.—Forces are being lined up throughout the country to put over America's fifth war loan—the last the public will be called upon to absorb—the early part of April.

The decision of the Treasury Department to designate the new bond issue as the "Victory Liberty Loan," seems to be meeting with general favor. The name carries the thought of the victory of America and her allies on the battlefields of France for the cause of freedom and democracy. The amount of the loan will be determined by the needs of the Treasury Department when the issue is authorized. It is believed, however, it will be about six Billion Dollars—the same as the Fourth Liberty Loan. The interest rate of the securities has not been decided but assurances have been given that it will be attractive from the investor's point of view.

"Let's finish the job" is the appeal made by officials of the War Loan organization to purchasers of bonds of the previous issues and to workers. The county organizations are being reassembled for the last great effort.

In a statement just made public, Governor Joseph A. McCord, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, chairman of the Sixth District War Loan Organization, emphasizes the need of another loan.

"It was not alone the achievement of our soldiers in breaking the Hindenburg line that made Germany beg for an armistice though I would not rob the fighters of any of the glory," he said. "It was the gigantic scale of preparation in America, behind the army; our huge production of arms, ammunition and ships; our greater army in training behind the firing line, that convinced Germany it was useless to fight any longer."

"By going into it as we did, a vast sum was spent, but it brought a saving in the lives of thousands of our young men. Critics have charged the Government with "extravagance" in handling war contracts. It was this determination to "win at any cost" that brought the Hun to his knees. It was economy, not only in lives but in money we would have been compelled to spend had the war lasted another year or two years longer."

The obligations now outstanding for this enormous production of material must be met. That is the reason it is necessary to raise more money through bonds even though the armistice has been signed. American soldiers still are in Europe and until they have been brought back and the bills paid, the public's duty to the Government will not be fulfilled—the job will not be finished.

A Costly Waterloo Medal.

Mr. Steward has included in "War Medals and Their History" a special account of the famous Waterloo medal of Pistruc, which originated from the desire of George IV. in 1819 to commemorate the victory by the issue of a specially fine medal. Flaxman designed it, but Pistruc, the chief engraver at the royal mint, refused to cut the dies and was himself commissioned to prepare a modeled design, which, being approved, he was instructed to cut the dies for a fee of £3,500. The dies were not finished until 1842, and of the men who were to receive the medal in gold the Duke of Wellington was the only survivor when the first impression was taken.

Peculiarities of Russian Winters.

There is one curious thing about a Russian winter—in the latter part of October or the beginning of November the weather will be quite mild. Not a sign can be seen of an approaching change, when suddenly, without any apparent warning, a light haze will be seen in the northern sky, and in twenty-four hours the thermometer may fall 50 degrees. The change is so sudden and violent that travelers are frequently frozen to death before they can gain shelter. It has occurred that farmers out looking after their flocks have been caught in one of these blizzards and, missing their way home, have lost their lives, their bodies remaining under the snow until spring.

A Spiny Monster.

For sheer ferocity of appearance, unredeemed by any milder facial attributes, a lizard called after "Moloch horrid king" Moloch horridus is pre-eminent among reptiles. The body of this Australian reptile is so covered with spines that, as it has been put, nature seems to have endeavored to ascertain how many spines could be inserted on a given area. But, unlike its tutelary deity, who seems ready to have spelled himself Moloch, the lizard does not demand the blood of children. It is, indeed, vegetarian and only fery in that it has a curious faculty of absorbing and drying up water. A specimen placed in a shallow dish attracted the water like blotting paper.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

The executive board held a meeting and appointed Mrs. E. W. Hopkins to serve the unexpired term as vice president.

The entertainment committee, composed of Mesdames Brandt, Jones and Russell, has decided to have each member earn and contribute a dollar, and at a special meeting tell the manner in which it was earned. Each member is requested to get busy and bring in the allotted amount.

The tea Saturday afternoon was well attended and the music furnished by the Misses Connor and Mrs. W. C. Chowning was greatly enjoyed, as well as the readings given by Miss Irene Brown. Coffee and cake were served by Mesdames Chowning, Little, Roberson and Russell, who acted as hostesses. The amount received from the silver offering was $10.14.

Considering the inclement weather there was a good attendance at the regular meeting of the Woman's club Monday afternoon. The subject of the program was "Current Events," in charge of Mrs. H. L. Rood, and the members who attended thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. A piano solo by Miss Shirk was delightfully rendered and was responded to by an encore. Miss Corinne Neal, in her usual pleasing voice, rendered several vocal solos, which were heartily enjoyed. Mrs. Rood's paper on "Current Events" was well written and much enjoyed, dwelling on the necessity of being familiar with reading the papers and keeping in touch with daily happenings of state country and foreign affairs.

Y. W. C. A. WORKER IS BIG SISTER

Industrial Woman's Service Club Brings Home to Girls in New Factory Community.

BLUE TRIANGLE MEANS CHEER

Club Stands for Hot Lunches, Clean Towels, Comfortable Cots, Parties, Games and Recreation to Girl Workers.

Katherine Holland Brown.

"MY name is May Isabel Carnahan. I am eighteen years old, and I work in a big factory in Michigan. More than four hundred other girls work there too. I don't aim to tell you about our jobs. You can read about our work in the labor department reports. But I do aim to tell you about our Big Sister and of the things she has done for us. "To begin with, our factory town isn't a town at all. It's a huge barn of buildings stuck down in the country nineteen miles from nowhere. There is a railroad siding, a station the size of a dry goods box, seven farmhouses and one general store and postoffice combined—it's pretty near as big as a hot tamale stand. And that's all. No Main street, no banks nor stores, no ice-cream parlors, not one solitary movie show, in all those nineteen miles. Lonesome? It's the ragged edge of desolation, that's what it is.

"I was one of the first carload of forty girls that was shipped up from Chicago. The factory was swarming with workmen putting in the machinery, and we girls couldn't begin work for a day or so, so we began hunting places to eat and sleep. That was a trifle that the employment folks hadn't thought of. The workmen were sleeping and eating in the cars that had brought them there, backed on the siding. Our only chance for beds and food was with those seven farmhouses, so we marched straight to the farmers' wives and asked for board and room.

Farmers' Wives Hospitable.

"I will say that those women were kind and hospitable. They fixed it up between them to feed us forty girls, and they gave us good food too. But for rooms, that was the question. They could each spare one room. That meant sleep five or six in a room. But right then along came the boss of the factory and told us the machinery was ready and he'd expect us girls to work double shifts, night and day.

"He wanted to make use of every minute, you see. But that gave us our chance as to sleeping. We fixed it up with the farm folks that we'd work double shifts and sleep double shifts too.

"So we planned it. Three girls would use a room from eight at night till six the next morning. Then they'd hustle over to the factory, and the three girls who'd been working all night would take the room and sleep till afternoon. It wasn't any luxurious slumber, believe me. The farm women had so few sheets and pillow cases that most of us went without. And towels were scarce as diamonds on blackberry bushes. As to soap—well, the general store kept yellow bar soap, that kind that is so full of rosin you could use it to calk a ship. But we made out till the next three carloads of girls came rolling in. Then we went most distracted. Those poor girls had to sleep in tents and in the cars that the workmen had abandoned by this time, and they were lucky if they got a straw tick and a blanket. By this time it had turned raw cold, and maybe you know what late autumn nights in Michigan feel like. To cap the climax the farm folks cut down on food, and for a week it was potatoes and beans and mighty few beans at that.

Along Came a Miracle.

"But, right when we were about ready to quit our jobs and beat it for home, along came a miracle. Two quiet, businesslike women climbed down from the eastbound train one morning. With them came eight workmen, a carload of scantling and tar paper, another carload of cots and blankets and pillows and sheets and towels—brand new blankets and beds—think of the glory of that!—and bushels of dishes and rolls of oilcloth and enough burlap to carpet the country. You won't believe me when I tell you that in ten days their workmen had a scantling-and-tar-paper shack put up and burlap tacked over the walls, and the Y. W. C. A. secretary and her helper had set up board tables and coffee kettles and were serving us the grandest hot lunches every day. And back behind the burlap screens were set those rows of clean cots, with enough cover to keep you warm the coldest night that ever blew, and a towel apiece for every single girl. Do you wonder that we all felt, as one girl put it, 'I'll wager the Fritz-Carlton has nothing on this!'

"Who were those women? Why, Y. W. C. A. secretaries, of course. I'd think you'd know that without being told. All over the country wherever we girls have pitched in to make aeroplane cloth or overalls or munitions or canned goods you'll find a Y. W. C. A. secretary working harder than anybody else to make the girls comfortable and to keep them happy and well. Sometimes they haven't money enough to get all that we really need. But always they stretch every cent to make it do its level best for us. Do you wonder that we girl workers have learned to call the Y. W. C. A. our Big Sister—the very best Big Sister of all?

THESE LONG EVENINGS

Call forcibly to mind the necessity for good lighting in the home. The most pleasant time of the day for the business man is when he goes home after his day's work to spend the evening with his family, and the pleasantness is enhanced or lessened by the good or poor lighting in the home.

Electricity furnishes the best, most convenient and safest form of lighting. There is no fuss, no worry, no muss. Just turn the switch and you have a flood of light when you want it and where you want it.

If you have any lighting problems we would be glad of an opportunity to talk them over with you.

Pay Day Saving

The time to consider opening an account is not when the pay envelope has dwindled to nothingness.

Money spent is gone forever.

The best way is to separate from the earnings that which it is practical to "put by"—and deposit it in a Savings Account in this institution.

Our officers recommend the adoption of the pay day saving plan.
